

Beowulf

*(f.k.a. The Angel's Wing)Production Information (original configuration)

Manufacturer	SoroSuub Corporation
Product Line	Personal Luxury Yachts
Model	Monitor Class

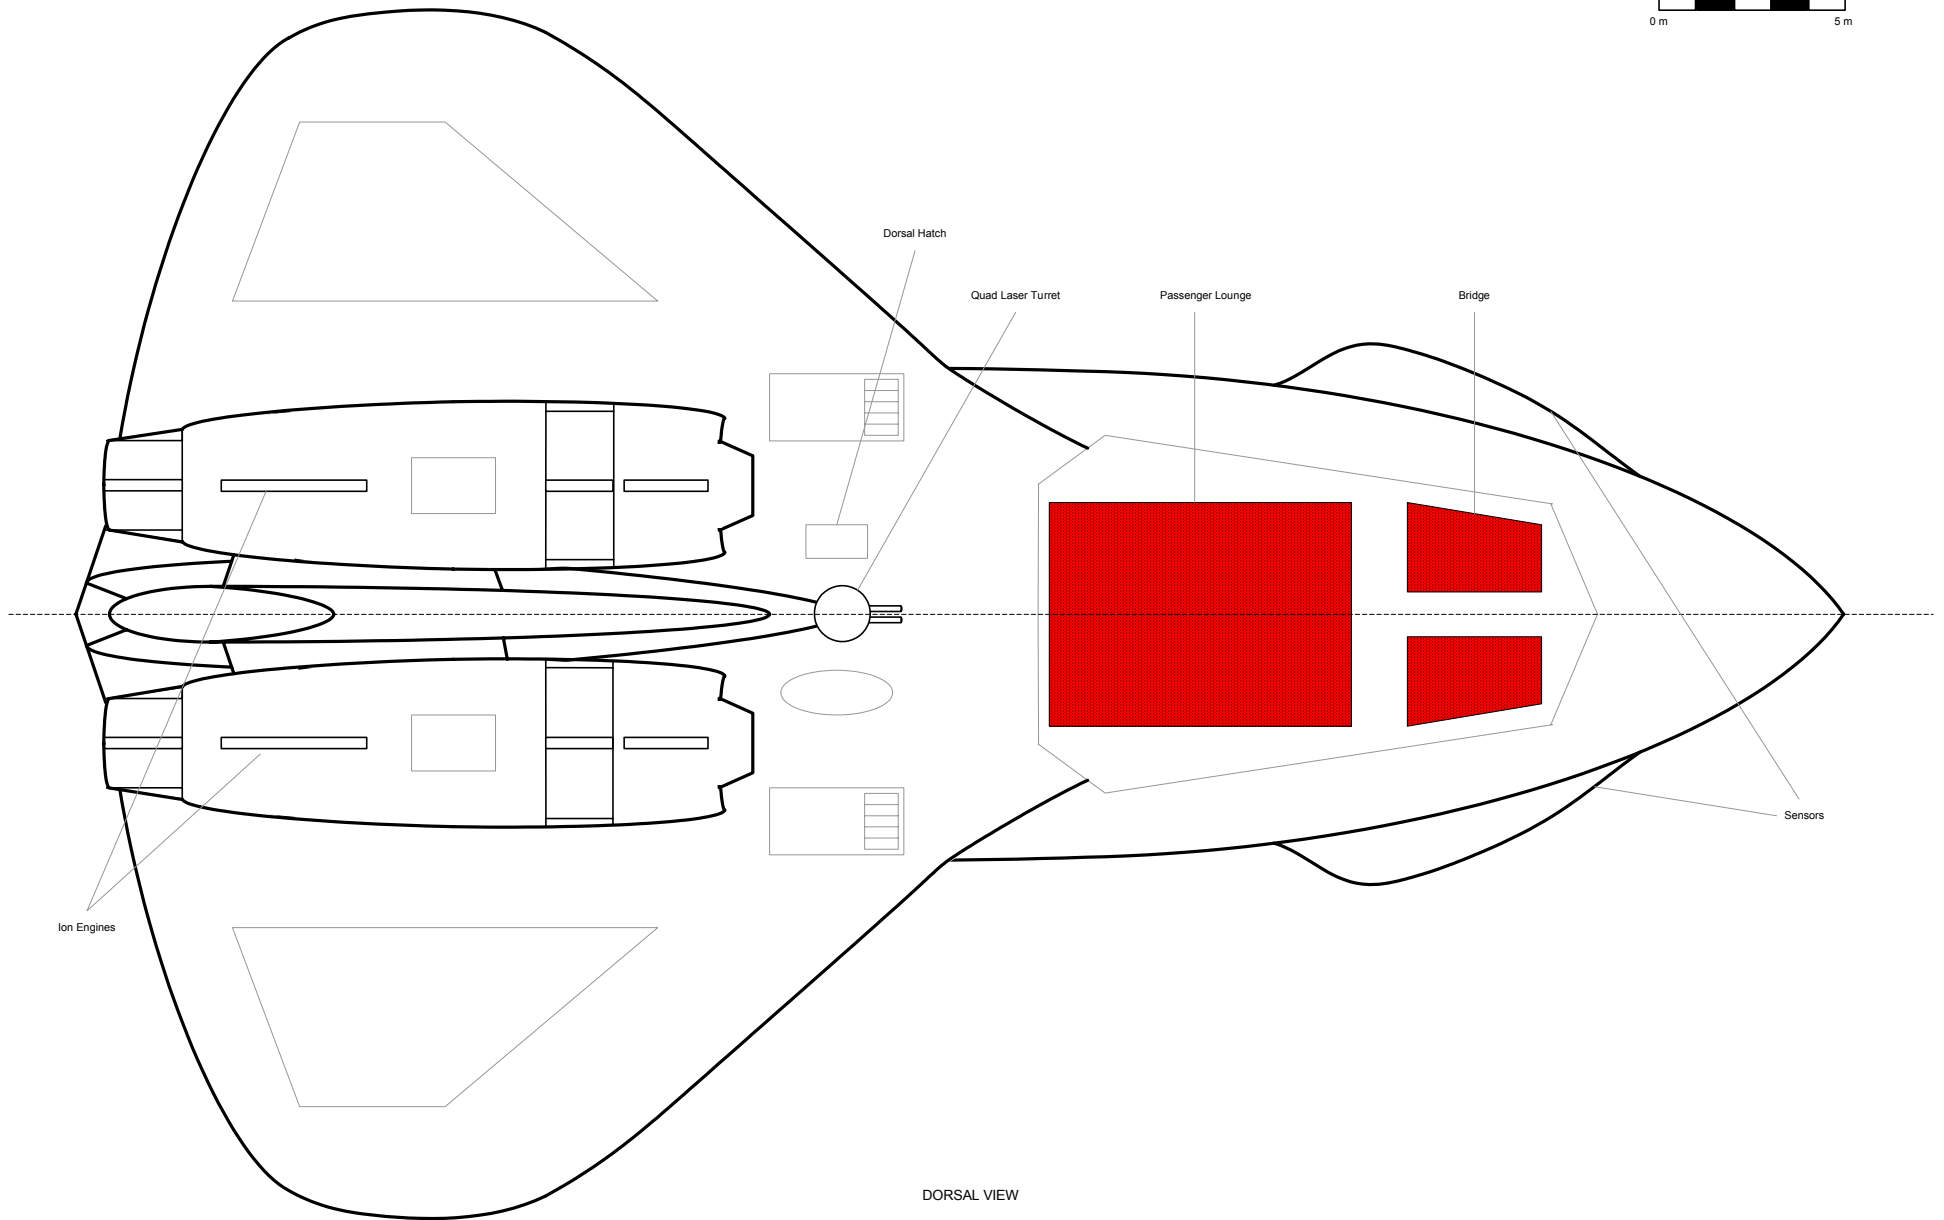

Technical Information

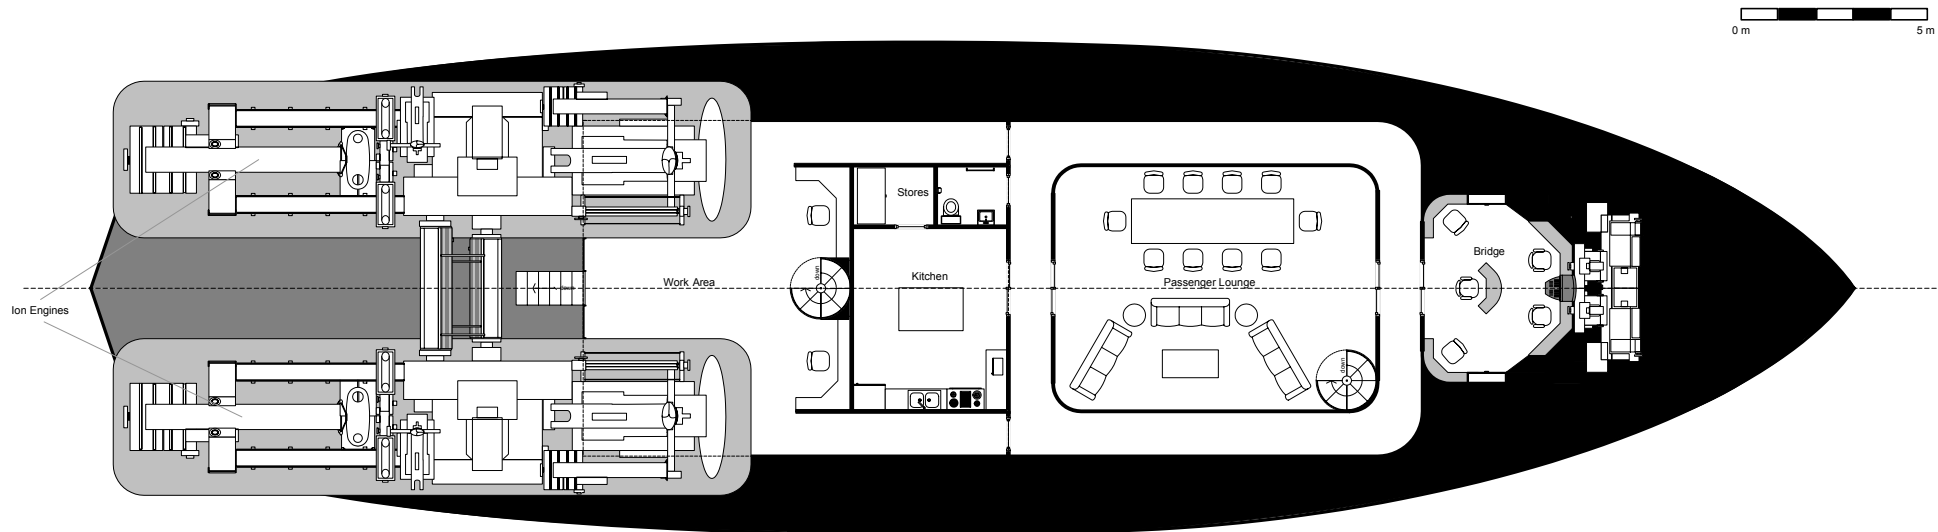

Length	47 meters
Max speed (atmosphere)	850 km/h
Engine Unit(s)	2 ion engines
Hyperdrive rating	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Class 1 Backup Class 10
Shielding	2 Chempat-6 Deflector Shield Generators
Navigation system	Navigation Computer
Armament (installed)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> AG-2G Quad Laser Cannon (dorsal ball turret) 2 AG-1G Laser Cannons (fire-linked, forward mounted) 2 optional wing-mounted variable configuration weapon/sensor pods
Complement	2 Escape Pods
Crew (regular)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 1 pilot 1 co-pilot 1 navigator 1 flight engineer
Crew (minimum)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> 1 pilot 1 flight engineer
Passengers	10/12
Cargo capacity	85 metric tons
Consumables	1 month

History

The Free Trader Beowulf (or Beowulf for short) started out as a regular luxury yacht named the Angel's Wing. At some point in its history the ship was hastily converted for use as a planetary defense craft, with improved shields and a laser turret installed. Eventually the ship wound up in a used starship lot on Nar Shadda owned by Lando Calrissian, where it was pressed into service during the smugglers' defense of the moon during the Battle of Nar Shadda. After the battle Lando sold the lot to a retired smuggler named Roa who further modified the Angel's Wing, increasing its cargo capacity. A couple of years later Roa married his longtime love and took the Angel's Wing for use on his honeymoon. Roa and his wife soon settled on Corellia and he sold the Angel's Wing to an Onderonian nobleman.

In order to avoid Imperial detection on her way to Tatooine, Princess Leia Organa convinced the crew of the cargo ship she was travelling on to trade in their vessel for another. Using her royal connections, the Princess was able to acquire the Angel's Wing from the Onderonian Royal Family. With the new ship she and the crew were able to retrieve General Obi-Wan Kenobi from Tatooine and rendezvous at the Rebel Alliance's base. There the Angel's Wing was given a new transponder with the identity of the Free Trader Beowulf and its weapons systems were upgraded. The newly christened Beowulf participated in the Battle of Yavin IV against the Death Star. She and her crew continue to see service in the Rebel Alliance today.

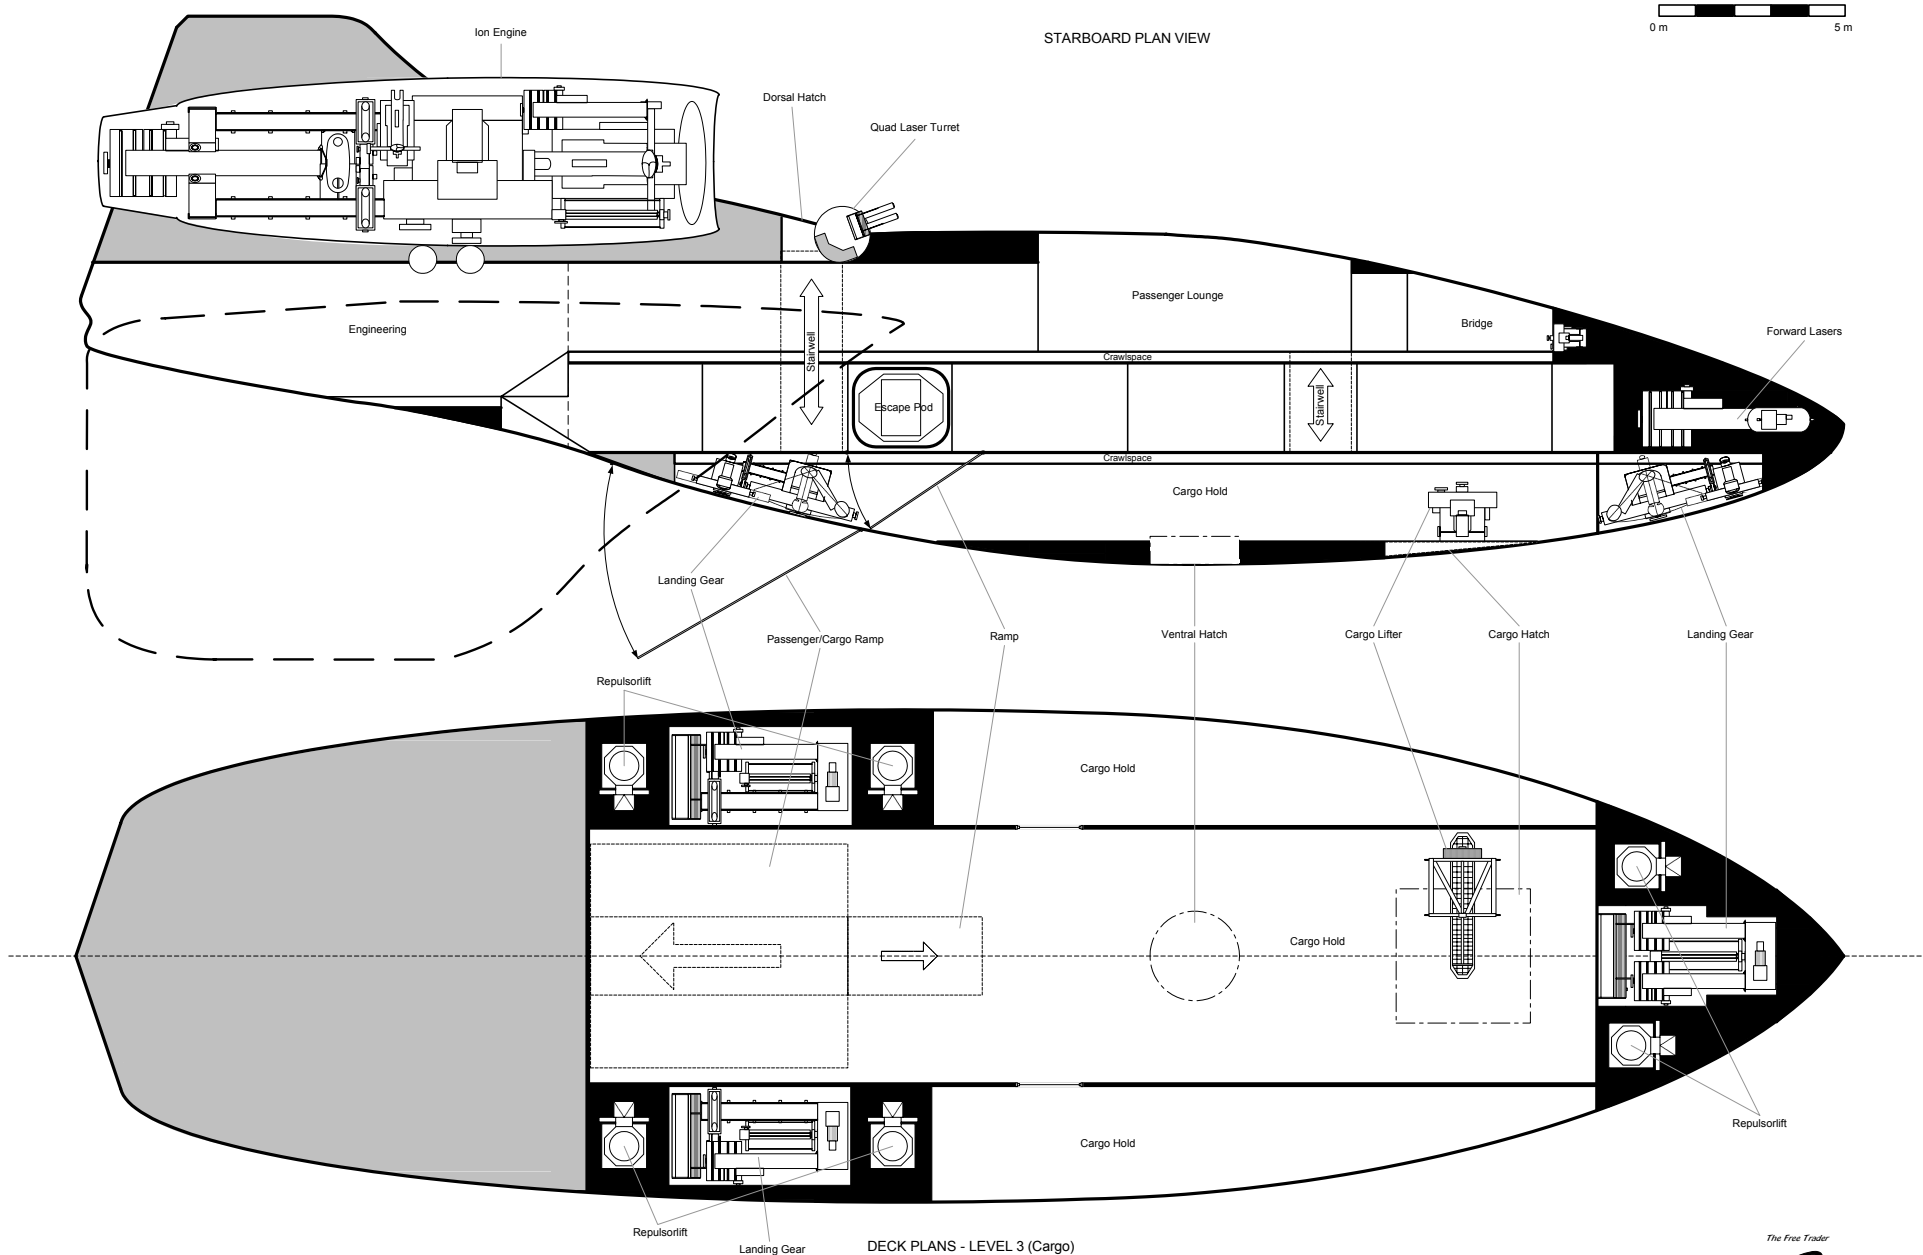

DECK PLANS - LEVEL 1 (Bridge and Lounge)

DECK PLANS - LEVEL 2 (Living Quarters and Engineering)

The Free Trader

Beowulf

STARBOARD PLAN VIEW

0 m 5 m

DECK PLANS - LEVEL 3 (Cargo)

The Free Trader

Beowulf